

The Landscape Architecture of Lawrence Halprin

September-October 2026
Location: The Exhibition Space at ABC Stone, Brooklyn, NY

The Landscape Architecture of Lawrence Halprin, a traveling photographic exhibition about the life and work of landscape architect Lawrence Halprin (1916-2009), was created in 2016 during the centennial anniversary of Halprin’s birth. The exhibition features 56 commissioned photographs by leading landscape photographers of dozens of Halprin’s major works, including residential projects created early in his career in the 1950s; the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial in Washington, D.C.; capstone projects such as the Yosemite Falls approach and Stern Grove in San Francisco, CA.

2026 Sponsorship Opportunities: The Cultural Landscape Foundation
Traveling Photographic Exhibitions

In tandem with the Landslide® program, TCLF periodically produces traveling photographic exhibitions that illustrate the year’s thematic compendium of threatened and at-risk sites. Each exhibition features commissioned photography, narratives about the sites and theme being explored, and ways for the public to get involved.
